

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a method for evaluating cancer, which comprises the following steps of:

- 5 (a) collecting total RNA from an analyte;
- (b) measuring the expression level of at least one gene selected from among the genes shown in Tables 1 to 8; and
- (c) evaluating cancer using the measurement result as an indicator.